The object of the Rural Sociological Society is to promote the development of rural sociology through research, teaching, and extension work.

Any person professionally employed in the field of rural sociology, or who is interested in the objects of this society, may become a member upon application, payment of dues, and review of classification by the Membership Committee. The annual membership fees are $12 for active members, $13 for joint (husband-wife) members, $8 for associated members, and $5 for emeritus members, student members, and sponsored members. The dues for citizens of countries other than the U.S. and Canada, living outside the U.S. and Canada, are 50 percent of the regular rate for each membership category (except sponsored). Each member receives RURAL SOCIOLOGY, the official journal of the Society, at no additional expense. Send membership fees to:
